of residents' rights :
we all share in the responsibility !

SAFETY IS...

...when I avoid offering food to another resident, since I don't know what might be dangerous for him (allergies, risks of choking, etc.).

SAFETY IS...

...if I notice that the elevator doesn't stop at floor level... I let the personnel know so that it can be fixed rapidly.

SAFETY IS...

...when there is water on the floor near the sink... and I dry it to avoid someone slipping on it.

SAFETY IS...

...when I make sure the food is the right
consistency for each resident... otherwise, the consequences might be severe.

SAFETY IS...

...when I make sure that the equipment and the carts are on the same side of the corridor... to allow residents to move around safely.

SAFETY IS...

...when I avoid punching the center's access code to open the door when a wandering resident is waiting to go out... who knows if he will be able to find his way back?
